THE COLUMBIAN MAGAZINE FOR MARCH .-- This is one of the most beautiful of the monthlies, and nderthe able editorship of John Inman has taken a better studard of literature for its aim than some of the others of its class. The articles in this number are all good and some of them like our friend Weld's "Man who loved his Country," and Arthur's "Brothers Temptanon," have a sound moral for those who will search for it .-The author of a " New Home," &c. has furnished an interesting sketch, land H. W. [Herbert one of his spirited tales-The embellishments are "Caught Napping," a mezzotint by Sadd, and "Columbus and the Egg," a line engraving by Ormsby. Some parts of the Mezzotint are exquisitely done, and both of the Engravings are beyond the average which the monthlies have given us for some time past. The countenances in the plate of "Columbus and the Egg" are capitally done. There is also a plate of the Spring Fashions, and a piece of Music. Israel Post, 3 Astor House.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

Haddenfield, New-Jersey, April 20, 1942.

On or about the 13th day of October, 1841, I was taken with a violent pain in the side near the liver, which continued for about five days, and was followed by the breaking of an ulcer, or something inwardly, which relieved the pain a little, but caused me to throw up a great quantity of offensive matter and also much blood. Being greatly alarmed at this, I applied to a physician, but he said he though he could do but little for me except give me some Mercury Pills, which I refused to take, feeling satisfied they could do me to good;—many other remedies were then procured by my wife 2nd friends, but none done me any good, and the discharge of blood and corruption still continued every few days, and 21 last became so offensive I could scarcely breathe. I was also seized with a violent cough, which at times caused me to el in the harbor of Savannah. blood and corruption still continued every few days, and at last became so offensive I could scarcely breathe. I was also seized with a violent cough, which at times caused me to raise much more blood than I had done before, and my disease continued in this way, still growing worse until February, when all hopes of my recovery were given up, and my friends all thought I would die of a galloping consumption. At this moment, when my life was apparently drawing near its close, I heard of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry and got a bottle, which relieved me immediately, and by the use of only three bottles of this medicine, all my pains were removed, my cough and splitting of blood and corruption entirely stopped, and in a few weeks my health was so far restored as to enable me to work 2. my trade (which is a carpenier) and up to this tims I have enjoyed good health. At about the same instant, a member of the Senate announced to the President, 'The Capitol is on fire;' to which the President replied, 'The h-l it 18'-and left his seat with the speed of a grey-

In the House of Representatives Mr. Adams In Senate, petitions were presented for damrose, after the Journal had been read, and stated ages by Canal Contractors, in consequence of a that he had understood that an error had been suspension of public works; for the alteration of committed in making up the vote on Mr. Hen. | the Marine Court of New York, and for a law for ley's motion yesterday, to suspend the rules for the suppression of licentiousness. A report was received from the Attorney Genethe purpose of allowing him to introduce a joint resolution for adjourning in May,-that the vote ral in answer to the resolution of the Senate, of Mr. Slidell, erroneously recorded in the nega. calling for a detailed statement of the printing tive, would have reversed the decision of yester ordered by him during the past year. A report was received from the Canal Com-

Quite a lengthy debate sprung up on the bill to allow the children of Pierre Augustin Bartlemy (an alien) to hold certain real estate. It was finally laid on the table to afford Senators time to examine the subject.

The Senate in committee of the whole, Mr. LESTER in the chair, took up the bill in relation to the courts of common pleas in the city of New York.

The bill gave rise to a long debate involving the whole question as to the amount of compensation which ought to be paid to county, circuit and other judges. The bill was warmly advocation, regarding the decision of the Speaker that a | ted by Messrs. Jones and Foster and as warmly opposed by Messrs. Scott, Strong and Bar-

In Assembly an unusual number of petitions were presented; several for a Convention to revise the Constitution, for amending the license laws, &c. Several reports from committees were readamong them was one by Mr. J. SMITH, against on the rules; and Mr. Rogers, of New York, the petition from New-York to suppress the practice of bawking and pedling. Laid on the table.

Mr. Sampson reported against the establishment of a State Lunatic Asylum in the western part of his remarks he made the following allusion to of the State, but recommended that additional wings be erected to the building at Utica, to be used for a hospital, and also to furnish accommodation for 500 patients. The amount estimated is $69,000, but the committee recommend that no greater sum than $35,000 be expended in any one year. The committee report against the petition of the Messrs. White of Hudson lor an appropriation. Mr. Sampson also reported a bill for a more

Mr. Rogers declined to yield the floor. The gentleman from Mississippi (Mr. Hammett) had seen fit the other day (said Mr. R.) to allude with a sneer, as he thought at the time, to the State of New-York, and to Wm. H. Seward. Now, with all proper respect to that gentlaman, he might be permitted to say that he probably understood the politics of his own State and the character of her public men better haven heldithe politics of the State of N. Y. and the character of her public men. It was a fact—notorious—to the whole nation he had almost said—to the whole Northern portion of the Union, that Governor Seward, when a candidate for the Gubernatorial chair of New-York, had been addressed upon the subject of abolitionism by the Abolitionists, and that he had returned a flat dissent from all the common principles of their creed. extensive circulation of Dr. Sewall's Pathology of Drunkenness. It was true that his administration had given satisfaction in some respects to the abolition party, (and to a large majority, as Mr. R. believed, of the State of New-York.) but he doubted very much whether William H. Seward had ever received any portion of the abolition vote of the State of New York. The gentleman sneers at William H. Seward! Who was he? The very soul of honor—a man formed in all the prodigality of nature, with all the affluence of mind and of virtue sown broadcast into his composition; who had never soiled in his life that purity of character for which he was so strikingly distinguished; whose reputation had never been tainted. He was not only pure, but, like Cmaar's wife was above and beyond suspicion. He had never trod the downward path of shuffling expediency and low ambigon; but the popularity which had followed him to his ratir ment was like that spoken of by Lord Mansfield, which followed great and noble deeds, but was not sought after. Mr. R. further referred to the bistory of Mr. Seward and of his political life, and spoke of them in terms of lofty commendatism.

Where dd this taunting, this sneering come from? (continued he.) From Mississippi. Now, he hambly conceived, with all due deference and respect to the gentlemen representing that State upon this floor, that Mississippi was the very last State in this Union that should attempt to sit in judgment upon the characters of her sister States. The gentlemen thought abolitionism pregnant with mischief and black with dishonor. What did he think of repudiation? War, pestilence, or famine might be eadured, for these was a recuperative energy in this country to renew, to restore, to revive. But where was the medicine that should heal the broken honor of the country? Where was the hand that should wine from her brow the lepresy of broken promises and plighted TNSTRUCTION-A French gentleman engaged in literary pursuits, having a few hours to spare, would be happy to devote them in giving instructions in the French and Spanish languages, in some small boarding school or private family, in or about New-York. ELITABETH-Tows, December, 2, 1813.

Messrs. Sands, zent—It is with heartfelt gratifude for your kindness to me that I make a public acknowledgement of the benefit I have received from your Sarsaparilla. I have been for many years afflicted with a cancer in the breast, and for four years it was as I thought incurable; it spread very fast, so that ic had nearly covered the whole breast, and for many weeks I was so reduced with the loss of blood and the pain of the wound, that I was unable to turn mysalf in bed, and my sufferings during the whole winter were more than I can tell.

With the advice of my friends I called two of the most emi-nent physicians of the place who recommended your prepara-tion of Sarsaparilla, knowing of nothing that would be as likely to help me; which advice I readily received, and belikely to help me; which advice I readily received, and be-fore I had taken one bottle I found a change in my feelings which induced me to take more, and when I had taken the thir! bottle I was like another person both in health and strength. I have taken your preparation since last March, and although it cound is not entirely healed it is in a very favorable state, and I believe it will be the means, ultimately, of my entire cure; and that the aillicated may all find the relief which it alone a neigh is the wish of their and your Find.

cure; and that the afflicted may all find the relief which it alone can give is the wish of their and your friend.

I am the niece of Eunice Woodraff, have been brought up by her, and know what she states to be true, for I have had all the care of her through her sickness.

THERESA DENTON.

I am well acquainted with Miss Woodraff and knew her situation previous to the use of Sands's Sarsaparilla, and have witnessed the surprising effect produced by it, and can therefore endarse fully the above statement. witnessed the surprising energy production for endorse fully the above statement.
